[From our Special Correspondent.]

With the advent of spring that most malignant epidemic, "Viral fever," struck the members of the General Assembly and many of them are undergoing severe tests in keeping up under the strain. They fall down lazily in their chair, and seem not at all anxious to dispatch business. A few slide and slide, as they say, and "fumble" with each

In spraying for biting and chewing insects, as well as for fungi, it is a good plan to add four ounces of Paris green to forty or fifty gallons of Bordeaux. When the Bordeaux is not used four ounces of the poison should be diluted with sixty or seventy-five gallons of water. In applying the weakest solution to peaches or nectarines a quart of thick milk of lime (lime wash) should be added.—The

Who can be happy who has neither method nor occupation, whose times are unfiled and whose hours are unfilled? That old adage about satan finding "some mischief still for idle hands to do" is as true now as when it was first spoken. But we may add to this mischief of the hands the acid blood and sour humors of the heart and temper. In idleness all manner of evil thoughts take root and spring up like tares among the wheat or weeds in the garden.—

Died.

Dr. R. J. Napier was born in Galhamton Parish, Somerset county, England, August 15, 1825. He came to America in 1870 settled in Stephensport, Ky., about twenty years ago, where he united with the Baptist church of which he was a useful member until his death, which was March 22, 1897. During his long life he was a consistent member of the church and will of the Lord be done. No one who witnessed his saint-like patience through his long suffering, could question his high character, could question his high character, could question his high character.

He was of an excellent family, a heavy depositor. His home was full of sunlight and domestic happiness, where all friends delighted to visit. His funeral was presided by Rev. E. N. McDaniel of the Christian church, after which the remains were interred in the family burying ground to await the great resurrection morn. He leaves a wife to mourn his loss and during the time he was here on his day and night with a devotion and faithfulness, which was beautiful, also a brother, in Cloverport, Mr. G. P. Nepper, and a nephew, Fred Nepper, of LaGrange, Ky. held by the God love and consolation be with them in this hour of bereavement.

Finance Committee, nothing special, only that the Sinking Fund was not increasing any. The regular allowing of claims and accounts were taken up for disposition.

Mr. Oelze put the question of selling beer for the city to individuals. He was in favor of putting a tax on every keg, when sold outside of saloons. He said it was a disgrace to allow this Sunday drinking to go on. This was held over for further investigation. The Mayor then presented to the Council, his "cow" ordinance, this was referred to the Ordinance Committee. The Council held on to this ordinance, but no action was taken.

A motion was put to adjourn, but a second could not be heard. A number of motions were put to adjourn but a second was not heard. A motion was put to adjourn but a second was not heard.

THE MUSIC OF NIGARA.

A musician hears the harmonies and the rhythm of the mighty Cataract.

Eugene Thayer, the well known organist, has published an analysis of the music of Niagara falls. He says: "It had never been my belief that Niagara had not been heard as it should be, and in this belief I turned my steps hitherward. What did I hear? The roar of Niagara? I heard nothing but a perfectly constructed, musical composition. It was just as if I had stepped into its majestic perfection, a complete series of tones, all melting in one grand and noble union, as in the organ."

Mr. Thayer then described at some length the composition, and of a given tone and illustrates the overtones or partials of the lowest C of the 32 foot pipe of the organ. Then he declared: "I had long had a suspicion that I should hear all this at Niagara when my wonderful voice should first meet my ears. It was just as I had supposed. How should I prove all this? My first step was to visit the beautiful island, otherwise known as Goat Island. My next step was to stand on Luna Island, above the central fall, and on the left side of the American Falls. I went on the extreme eastern side of the island in order to get the full force of the lower fall, and the roar of the rapids. Next I went to the Third States Island, and from there I heard the music of Niagara as it should be heard."

"With more or less variation of pitch at these and many other points, I heard between the notes of the chord of G, only four octaves lower."

"I arrived at my conclusion both theoretically and practically. Let me first call attention to the third and fourth notes, D and G."

"The ground note, G, was so deep, so grand, so mighty, that I never could realize it or take it into my thought or hearing, but these two notes, only four octaves lower, were everywhere with a power which made itself felt as two voices."

"But, it was itself, these two voices, too low to be detected by the sense of hearing. How did I determine their pitch?"

"I first caught the harmonic notes above them that were definite in pitch, and then, counting the number of vibrations of these lower two notes, easily determined their distance below."

"And here comes a curious feature which proves that Niagara gives a tone and not a roar. The reverberation of the interval of the tenth, was of a power and harmonic entirely out of proportion to the loudness as usually heard in the organ."

"Were the tones of Niagara a mere hum or confused or almost altogether. 'What is Niagara's rhythm? Its beat is just such per second.'—Trinity Record.

Novel Surgical Operation.
A quite novel surgical operation has been successfully performed at Parma, Italy, by Professor Verdeli, in the presence of all the physicians of the Parma hospital, and with very satisfactory results. The new operation was the crushing of the heart. It was the first operation of the kind, and Professor Verdeli employed the washing apparatus recently invented by Professor Riva.

After making an operative incision Professor Verdeli first cleaned the pericardium of the patient, a 15-year-old boy, of the pus which had accumulated there and then proceeded to wash the heart with a strong solution of soda bicarbonate (bore). The operation was very successful, inasmuch as no further complication has arisen. The boy is now doing very well and is on the way to complete recovery. Professor Verdeli has received numerous congratulations for his success with the new operation from surgeons all over Europe.—Philadelphia Record.
